

Brain Cancer Biobanking Australia (BCBA)

Brain Cancer Biobanking Australia (BCBA) is a national consortium of paediatric and adult brain cancer clinicians, researchers and biobankers who have agreed to join forces to overcome the current fragmented nature and variable quality of brain cancer biobanking in Australia. BCBA operates under the umbrella of the Cooperative Trials Group for Neuro-Oncology (COGNO) at the NHMRC Clinical Trials Centre, University of Sydney.

BCBA will function as a virtual biobank, networking and harmonising existing brain cancer biobanking operations Australia-wide to expedite researcher access to the amount, quality and type of tissue and associated data they need to advance brain cancer research.

Your support will help us facilitate and accelerate brain cancer research. Improvements in patient outcomes can only be achieved through research.
